Not illustrated. 1896 Excerpt: .amended to permit fhe use of State funds for elementary and secondary schools without distinction. Superintendent J. W. McClymonds well expressed the real situation recently by pointing out that high school education is not a local nor an individual matter, but a matter of preparation for citizenship in the interest of the State. The parent in San Francisco is vitally interested not only in his own son s education but as deeply in the education of somebody else s son, living in Siskivou County, for the Siskiyou child will be the citizen of the future making laws for the San Franciscan, and it is to the interest of every citizen that every other citizen should be educated, honestly and intelligently to perform the duties of citizenship and become a producer of intellectual, industrial or commercial capital; otherwise the State must support him. This brings us to another consideration. The real victims of the disabling clause of the Constitution have been, not the university preparatory schools, but those schools of broader and more practical range--the manual training, trade and technical schools. This class of schools has sprung up and shown marked vitality in other states during the past ten years California is visibly a laggard in this field. Given one half the encouragement which the present high schools, serving the narrower lines of college preparation, have enjoyed, and permitted to enlarge their scope and horizon, we may safely guarantee that in ten years they will usurp the...
